

Corporate Communications

Michaela Schnellhardt
Press Spokeswoman Human Resources
Phone: +49 841 89 34009
E-mail: michaela.schnellhardt@audi.de www.audi-mediacyenter.com

Audi close up

Audi is a “Prout Employer”

Ingolstadt, November 21, 2018 – An open company for everybody, irrespective of their sexual orientation, gender identity or other characteristics: This is how AUDI AG defines itself, and it therefore supports the PROUT AT WORK Foundation. At the company’s head office, Stephan Meier, Head of International and Top Management Human Resources at AUDI AG, received a membership certificate from the Foundation’s Chief Executive, Albert Kehrer. “Openness, respect and trust are key aspects of our corporate culture at Audi. As a “Prout Employer,” we stand by exactly those values and intend to create even more awareness for diversity,” stated Meier. The Foundation promotes regional networking meetings, supports employees who come out at their workplace, and accompanies employers in attaining an optimal inclusive workplace. The goal of all activities is to have equal opportunities for all. “As an innovative company, we want to make it possible for our employees to develop their full potential at Audi,” continued Meier. “That includes being able to contribute at the company with one hundred percent of their personality.”

-End-

Picture left to right: Albert Kehrer, Chief Executive of PROUT AT WORK Foundation, and Stephan Meier, Head of International and Top Management Human Resources at AUDI AG.

+++

Picture: Stephan Meier (4th from left), Head of International and Top Management Human Resources at AUDI AG, Albert Kehrer (5th from left), Chief Executive of PROUT AT WORK Foundation, and the members of the Audi networking group “queer@audi”.