

Patrick Danau

General Director for Production, Technology and Logistics and Spokesperson of the Management of AUDI BRUSSELS S.A./N.V.

Patrick Danau was born in 1956 in Ghent/Belgium.

Danau studied electro-mechanical engineering at the Hoger Technical Institute Sint-Antonius, in Ghent.

He started his career in the assembly department of the Brussels plant in 1978. From 1982 until 1984, he was responsible for production at the Volkswagen plant in Uitenhage in South Africa.

After that, Danau held senior positions in planning and assembly at the Brussels plant until 2006. Subsequently, he was Head of Production at the Volkswagen plant in Emden, Germany; later he was responsible for the technical management of Auto 5000 and then transferred to the VW plant in Pamplona, Spain, at first as Director for Production and as Managing Director as of 2011.

Patrick Danau has been General Director for Production, Technology and Logistics and Spokesperson of the Management of AUDI BRUSSELS S.A./N.V. since May 1, 2014.